NOTES TO THE ABOVE

- Please ensure you read the Members Briefing policy, the Do's and Don'ts of Hunting, the Social Media policy and the Safeguarding policy which are all available on the website www.essexandsuffolkhunt.co.uk
- Subscriptions are per person, are none transferable - and NOT per horse. A non-subscriber riding a subscriber's horse will be asked to pay a Visitor Cap.
- Point-to-Point Subscriptions: Please apply to the Hon Sec for further details.
- Insurance. All those who go out hunting should, in their own best interests, be insured against third party liability; see 8 below in relation to the cover provided by Countryside Alliance membership.
- Liability. By coming out hunting, you agree to the terms of the Hunt's constitution, which provides that neither the Hunt, nor any of the Masters or officials/employees of the Hunt, or other persons engaged in the activities of the Hunt, shall have any liability to you in relation to anything arising from the activities of the Hunt, whether or not arising from negligence (save as mandated by law), and you agree not to bring any claim against such persons or the Hunt (save as mandated by law).
- Dress. Subscribers are expected to come out in correct hunting dress. Only Masters, former Masters, Hunt Staff and Hunt Secretaries may wear a black cap with a scarlet coat. Anyone else wearing a scarlet coat must wear a grey cap. Safety headwear is acceptable providing the correct colour is used.
- Meet Cards. All subscribers will automatically be sent meet cards providing the correct payments have been made.
- Countryside Alliance membership. It is expected that ALL subscribers and supporters be current paid-up members of the Countryside Alliance; membership currently provides cover against third party liability.
- General Data Protection Regulation 2018: The Essex and Suffolk Hunt maintains a list of subscribers and donors and their basic personal details which is used for the running of the Hunt, sending mailings, recording levels of subscriptions and support, and organising hunting and the Hunt's (and other hunts) other activities. It is essential for the Hunt to maintain this list in order that it can meet its obligations to subscribers and other supporters. These personal data are only disclosed to those people within the Hunt who are responsible for these functions and to the Countryside Alliance. Personal data will not be disclosed to other outside organisations without the consent of the data subject. If you object to your basic personal details being kept and used by the Hunt as described above, please contact Jo Cole (Hon Secretary). Please note, however, that if you do object the Hunt will not be able to send you any mailings.
- Payment of a subscription constitutes your agreement to all the above.
